PROFILE

Founded in 2008 by Joe Erjavec and Randy Smith, Crestone Consultants, LLC is a full service professional civil engineering consulting firm located in Lakewood, Colorado. Crestone Consultants was formed to bring together highly motivated, experienced, and intuitive team players who share a common vision of serving our clients through effective communication, innovation, cost sensitive sustainable project solutions, and proactive service. Our organization takes great pride in having an attitude of cooperation and team spirit, innovating from experience, working as teams, and developing relationships based on integrity. We share a common vision with our clients in developing project solutions that advance the communities we serve.

With over 30 years of combined experience in the public and private sector development industries, our team members have worked extensively throughout the State of Colorado and throughout the western United States on a wide array of infrastructure assessment and development projects. Our team carries professional registrations in multiple states and we are active participants in several community and industry organizations. Crestone Consultants utilizes the latest computer aided design technology and industry training to ensure our value is maximized in creating efficient and flexible assessment and development solutions.
